Solons Hear Future Plans At 2nd Meet

By Darlene Nimitz

A full slate of activities was considered Monday evening at the second Student Senate meeting of the school year.

Bob Eipes, senior from Cosmos, Minn., was appointed chairman of the Campus Chest Drive.

A REPORT on the use of the Little Theater as a social center was given by Tom Kuckkahn, chairman of the Social Activities Committee. Kuckkahn stated that work in this direction is going into full swing.

Another topic considered was the proposal to set up a student judicial board on campus. The purpose of such a board would be to relieve some of the responsibility of the dean of students' office. A similar setup at the University of Dubuque was reported to work well.

HOWEVER, IN VIEW of the following considerations, this proposal was rejected:

1. Since any organized meeting is required to take minutes, a student's infraction of the rules would go on his permanent record.

2. Much time would be consumed in referring violations from the dorm councils to the board.

3. A student's problem would be considerably less confidential.

Language Lab Adds Zip to Campus Lingo When Headphones Hum In Thirty Booths

By Chuck Jepsen

Guten Tag, bonjour and 3gpabetbyute!

Wartburg's Language Department received a tremendous boost this year with the addition of the language lab in Room 201 Luther Hall.

The lab contains 30 individual booths, each equipped with a headset and microphone. Through the microphone and ear set one can hear his own voice while speaking.

The teacher sitting at the front panel can talk with each student individually or can give instructions to the entire class.

The master panel also contains four channels for playing tapes to the students. The panel is so constructed that in the future it can be expanded to include 10 channels.

With the completion of this lab there are now 11 in colleges in Iowa. The idea began during and after World War II, when emphasis was placed on speech rather than grammar in studying foreign language.

One of the main purposes of the lab, according to the Rev. Walter Tillmanns, head of the Modern Language Department, is to allow the student to work actively at the language for 50 minutes rather than being called upon for one or two minutes per period.

The lab is used for first- and second-year German students, first-year French and first-year Russian. It is open outside the class period 25 hours per week. During the first week 204 students used the lab with 89 the highest single-day total. Use in-

Standards Set For 'Who's Who' Election Tuesday

Senior class Who's Who elections will be held next Tuesday during convocation.

These elections qualify 19 Wartburg seniors to have their names placed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Because of the importance of these selections, especially for job placement, the Elections Committee has set up qualifications for a senior to have his name placed on the ballot.

Students must have a 2.3 grade-point average for the three previous semesters. He also must qualify in any one of these extracurricular activities: by having been a campus organizational officer, Student Body officer or class officer or by lettering once in two different sports or twice in one sport.

At the Student Senate meeting held last Monday evening the freshman senators voiced the opinion that the freshmen should not vote in this election because they do not know the seniors well enough to choose wisely. They will accordingly be omitted from balloting.

Watch Birdie!

Individual and group pictures for the Fortress will be taken Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Individual pictures for seniors will cost $2 while underclassmen pictures cost $1.

Expansion Plans Get Boost

And All That Jazz

CHRIS BARBER and his band really swing last night. As a result, the Pops Concert fund is $200 richer. According to SB Prexy Fred Mai, approximately seven hundred attended. Gross receipts were $776.

Regional ISEA Meeting Here Tues.

The fall regional meeting of the Iowa Student Education Association will be held on the Wartburg campus Tuesday.

According to Dr. Herbert Max, head of the Education Department, the topic for discussion will be "Guidance in the Elementary and Secondary Schools."

Dianna Blunt, regional president from Luther College, will preside at the opening general session. Two speakers, Marcia Foley, state president, and Dr. Wray Silvey, Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, will compose the morning program.

Following the noon luncheon, Kay Sobaski of Parsons, state vice president, will give highlights of the National Education Association convention. Local chapter reports and a film on guidance will bring the meeting to a close.

Included in the region are Clarke College, Dubuque; Ellsworth Junior College, Iowa Falls; ISTC; Loras College, Dubuque; Luther, Decorah; Mason City Junior College; University of Dubuque; Upper Iowa, Fayette; and Wartburg.

Liemohn To Give Lecture Monday

"Church Choir in Confusion" is the theme of a lecture by Dr. Edwin Liemohn, head of the Music Department. Monday evening in Fuchs Lounge at 7:30.

"I plan to show the purpose of a church choir in the worship service, especially from the Lutheran standpoint," explained Dr. Liemohn.

"On this basis I will show how the historical function of a choir has changed and how the architectural layout of a church affects this function."

The lecture is being sponsored by the Academic Life Committee of the Student Senate.

THE LANGUAGE lab is crowded almost every free period, because students must fulfill weekly time quotas under the headphones. The teacher's control panel is in the foreground.

creased considerably the second week.

At the present time the faculty members are making their own tapes because the company tapes have been late in arriving. The tape offers possibilities, such as recording the replies of students. Experimentation is now being run on repeating tape.

How effective has the lab been to date?

"The language lab has worked out very well," said Pastor Tillmanns. "We are happy to have it because it has helped a great deal, especially in pronunciation."

Dave Grube, second-year German student, says, "I wish that I had had benefit of the lab for first-year German. I think it is especially valuable in first-year languages."

Margretha Radloff, second-year German and first-year French student, remarks, "The lab has been a real improvement, particularly for first year students. The student can realize his mistakes more easily."

A first-year German student, Dave Braunschweig, comments, "The lab helps one to learn to speak the language easily. It also provides an opportunity for study outside class."

Auf Wiedersehen, au revoir and Do-ebugaHue.

A Student Body meeting will be held during convocation next Tuesday.

The Rev. Walter Tillmanns, head of the Languages and Literature Division, will be speaking at Thursday's convocation.

By Linda Mugridge

Wartburg's growth got an added push at two meetings during the past week.

Dr. C. H. Becker, college president, received the go-ahead signal on the construction of a women's dormitory. This was given at a meeting conducted by the new Board of College Education of The American Lutheran Church at Chicago Monday through Wednesday.

WARTBURG'S Development Council and Castle Club met Thursday. Here Dr. Becker reported on the dormitory and future expansion plans.

At the Chicago meeting, President Becker was authorized to complete plans and specifications for the third unit of Centennial Hall, women's dormitory.

"It is hoped that arrangements will be completed by mid-November, so that bids may be called for then," said Dr. Becker.

Actual construction will probably begin as soon as weather permits in early 1961, and the dorm should be ready for occupancy no later than the second semester of next year.

The new unit, which will cost an estimated $425,000, including furnishings, will provide housing for 131 women. It will also have a lounge, recreation area and quarters for a housemother.

The next building on the construction docket is the science hall. According to Dr. Becker, the building committee will probably make recommendations concerning the proposed science hall to the Board of Regents at the Nov. 8 meeting of the board.

"IT IS HOPED that the Board of Regents will authorize the committee to select an architect and proceed with plans," Dr. Becker said.

In addition to presenting dormitory and science building plans, Dr. Becker at both meetings outlined the construction program for the next 10 years.

On the building agenda are two men's dormitories, an addition to the Student Memorial Union, additional physical education facilities and a library-classroom addition.

The Development Council also heard reports by Herbert Knopp, Valparaiso, Ind., and William Engelbrecht, Waverly.

As a result of Knopp's report, which explained his concept of the development program and the function of the council, the group decided to investigate the committee system more fully.

AFTER ENGELBRECHT'S report, which centered around estate planning, the council urged that more publicity be given the bequest program.

First meeting of the Castle Club, formed last year, was held Thursday evening.

"Members voted to press forward with enlisting new members to take care of the college's obligations," said the Rev. Martin Ackermann, development director.

Elected officers of the group were Elmer Homuth, Fond du Lac, Wis., president; Gordon Yock, Clara City, Minn., vice president; and A. H. Niewohner, Waverly, Castle Club representative.

Student Body Chooses Republican Slate At 2-1 Ratio In Convocation Straw Vote

The Wartburg Student Body is Republican at a better than two to one ratio.

According to vote taken at Tuesday's convocation, 561 chose the Nixon-Lodge ticket while 214 favored the Kennedy-Johnson combination. Twelve voted for neither.

The vote followed a debate on three current campaign issues between Republicans Dr. Gerhard Ottersberg of the History Department, senior Marilyn Ruesch and junior Larry Minard and Democrats Dr. E. T. Sandberg of the English Department, senior Marilyn Lindstrom and senior K. D. Briner.

The Student Body also voted on the effectiveness of the presentations and balloted separately on the three issues discussed during the debate.

The Republican Party commandingly held the majority of all voting except on the farm problem, which showed a more than two hundred vote drop-off from the highest Republican vote, registered on the medical care for the aged program.

The exact balloting went as follows:

Effectiveness of Presentation

A --- A --- Akerchoo!

Just about the whole Student Body is sniffing.

Last year just about the whole Student Body sniffled, too. But maybe this winter will be different.

A cold and flu shot test program, sponsored by Rohlf Memorial Clinic, was announced last Tuesday. The purpose of the program is to discover if it would be profitable for the clinic to give all students cold shots on a voluntary basis at the beginning of next school year.

Last year over one-third of all cases referred to the school nurse from November through February were colds. The busiest month for the cold bug was December, when 309 out of 502 cases treated by the nurse were colds.

If colds could be prevented, the saving in time and misery for the students and in time and money for the clinic would certainly be worthwhile.

But first the value of such a program must be demonstrated. More than five hundred students have signed up for the shots. All participants will receive the actual vaccine in two shots about thirty days apart.

At the end of the year, their cold occurrence record will be compared with that of the rest of the Student Body. The results will determine whether the shots will be offered to students on a mass basis next year.

It is an interesting program, one which may prove to be a most significant step forward in Wartburg's health service.

40 Winks In 50 Minutes

Apparently Wartburg students are not the only ones who sleep in class. Last week Iowa State University in Ames announced that each student would be credited with one cut per lecture snooze.

Few students would defend sleeping during a class period. For one thing, eighty-some cents in tuition money evaporates in snores. For another thing, a bed is much more comfortable than the unyielding wooden chairs.

Yet sleeping does occur. Many more cases of near-sleeping clutter the classroom atmosphere. Honor role students have been known to doze in their chairs.

Why?

One of the most commonly given excuses is a stale, uninteresting lecture. Because a professor seldom puts an entire class to sleep, however, it is fairly safe to assume that the fault more often lies with individual students.

There are valid reasons for sleeping in class. The student who guns all night certainly cannot help nodding over his notebook. Neither can the student who talks theology or women until 2:30 in the morning. Neither can the student who works at night or who crawls out of bed in the pre-dawn to go to an early morning job.

These are all valid reasons for sleeping in class.

Or are they?

Have you seen all the stray cats on campus lately? Maybe they've heard how dropsy has affected the cafeteria workers.

It's poetic justice. Last week Parsons ended Wartburg's longest winning streak. In 1957 the Wartburg-Parsons encounter also ended a streak — prior to that contest, the Knights had lost 13 games in a row.

Combination of Christianity, Citizenship Advocated At Washington Conference

By Merlin Kuhlman

(Merlin S. Kuhlman, freshman from Bird City, Kan., attended the National Conference on Citizenship in Washington, D.C., from Sept. 16 to 21. He represented the Luther League of the American Lutheran Church.)

By thoroughly discussing and analyzing the duties and responsibilities of a U.S. citizen, the necessity of being both a citizen and a Christian was repeatedly emphasized.

We as youth have been told to set examples for others. Here, in citizenship, is an excellent opportunity. Set a true example by being Christian in citizenship.

However, this is another place where fear of becoming involved appears. It seems to be too much work to offer to help with some of the jobs that come up during the voting season — things like baby-sitting while parents vote or assisting at the polls.

It is too much work to study the campaign issues each year, or to register to vote or even to vote. Often no one else seems to care about these things, and besides, where does being a Christian tie in?

A generally accepted standard is that the United States is a government "of the people, by the people and for the people." Since it is of the people, it is also of us Christians. Since it is by the people, it is also by us Christians. Since it is for the people, it is for us Christians.

But how often is a Christian feeling of responsibility expressed in these areas?

Isn't it true that we are afraid, hesitant, unwilling and not at all eager to dig hand and foot into being dutiful citizens, Christian citizens? Why not let someone else take care of the proposed city project or serve on campus committees or join the Young Republicans or Democrats?

All these things are part of running a nation of, by and for you.

A few of the many things discussed at the conference were that so many people in America today don't know what is expected of them. Some don't care. Others become less sensitive to their responsibilities as they grow older.

It is interesting to note that out of the conference came a plea to drop the voting age to 18 so that young people could exercise their powers of citizenship sooner.

But we as Christians do not have to wait until we reach a certain age before we exercise our rights as American citizens. We can do so now, all the time, anywhere. Thus, spreads the influence of effective citizenship just as the influence of Christianity spreads.

Knights 'n' Daze

Briner

With "the great debate," Wartburg style, now several days in the past, it appears that all concerned have survived intact.

It is probably worth mentioning that the presence of two of Wartburg's most respected intellects — Dr. Ottersberg and Dr. Sandberg — on opposite sides of the forum was eloquent proof that there are two sides to every question.

At any rate, with the debate over, the attention of the Student Body has returned to its normal autumn pre-occupations: the World Series, football and four-weeks exams, in approximately that order.

Judging by all the long faces in the Den last week, an outsider would have assumed that something really tragic had taken place.

I was as sorry as anyone else to see the Knights drop that big one to Parsons, but I think our attitude is an insult to a fine football team. The tragic fact is that Wartburg has lost exactly one conference game in the last three seasons.

So, win or lose this week, I suggest you say a kind word to the next three football players you meet. Chances are they appreciate it as much after a loss as after a victory.

The Campus Voice

Use Of Theater As Play Center Gathering Speed

To the Student:

The Student Body has seen two-thirds of its Student Body project realized, namely the tennis court lights and the color TV.

The question, "What is being done to promote the use of the Little Theater as a recreation center?" the other third of the project, has been pursued most of the Student Body. The following is a report on that project:

After consulting with members of the administration, we found that the Wartburg Players have priority over the building. After questioning Mr. Lestrud, Wartburg Players head, we learned that the building could be of use as a center every Saturday night and any Friday night that play practice permits.

Having been given the go-ahead, we have set up committees within our own social activities committee to immediately begin the conversion project.

At present a committee is working on the purchasing of a record player, records and an adequate P.A. system.

Neither the balconies nor the risers can be removed because of the structure of the building and future "plays in the round."

Other committees are exploring decoration possibilities as well as the seating and storage space problem.

We can assure you that in the near future the Little Theater will be open for your weekend use, be it dancing, socials, cards or just a get-together area.

Our main concern right now is providing the basic facilities for the building. Once it is opened and our treasury becomes more lucrative, many improvements in attractiveness will be added.

Social Activities Committee Chm. Tom Kuckkahn

Jomen Take On Peacocks At 1:30

Wartburg's Jomen return to Schield Stadium this afternoon to meet Upper Iowa University of Fayette at 1:30. Next week they take on Buena Vista.

So far this season, Upper Iowa, a school of approximately six hundred students, has lost three games and won one. The single victory was a 26-7 win over Buena Vista last week.

Last season the Peacocks' only win was a 20-13 victory over Simpson. Their eight losses included a 46-6 shellacking at the hands of Wartburg.

NEXT WEEK Wartburg turns its attention toward a thus far disappointing Buena Vista team.

The Beavers, after finishing second to the Knights in the conference scramble with an 8-1 record last year, had been picked to finish near the top with a large corps of seasoned returnees.

These included 21 lettermen, the best of which were all-conference center Roger Jaacks and quarterback Dick Livermore.

BUT THE Beavers this year have been soundly beaten by Luther, Parsons and Upper Iowa.

Ten of the squad members were hit with injuries at the beginning of the season. The most painful of these losses was Bill Kraft, a highly touted freshman, who is out for the year with a broken arm.

OFFENSIVELY, THE Beavers have rushed 100 yards in three games, an average of 33½ yards a game. Last year they averaged 175 yards against conference opposition.

Defense has allowed an average of 271 yards per game as compared with last year's 134½. Both statistics are well pointed up at the Luther game in which Luther rushed 284 yards while BV could gain only one yard.

However, the very fact that the Beavers had a fine last-season showing and have a large group of returning lettermen could possibly spell trouble for the Knights. The incentive of Homecoming could spur the Beavers to added efforts.

Lehmann Is The Absolute End

By Bob Johannsen

All football coaches consider the ends to be of vital importance to their teams' success.

Wartburg is fortunate to have strength at the end position, led by senior Don Lehmann.

Don, at six-feet-one and 170 pounds, is one of the main cogs in the Wartburg version of the slot "T" offense. At the flank position, he has been a frequent target for the aerials thrown by Knight backs during the last two years.

Despite the fact that he scored three touchdowns and gained over 140 yards on pass reception in 1959, Don says he prefers defense to offense. His crashing play at end attests to the theory that a person likes what he does well.

Few will forget his defensive play against Luther Sept. 24, when he scooped up a Luther fumble on the Luther 32-yard line and carried it to the one. This defensive gem set up the first Wartburg touchdown and helped gain the momentum to overtake the Norsemen.

In high school, at New Richland, Minn., Don lettered in football three times, basketball twice and baseball three times, gaining all-conference honors in both football and basketball.

Although a quarterback in high school, he joined the pass-catching brigade upon enrollment as a freshman here. At Wartburg he won his first football monogram as a sophomore and added another last year. He gained his first letter in baseball as an outfielder last spring.

Off the field, Don is a personable, quiet young man, who is majoring in sociology. He has been on the intramural committee for the past two years and is a member of W-club. After graduating, he intends to enter Wartburg Seminary at Dubuque.

The biggest thrill of Don's football career was this year's victory over Luther. His present goal is to help Wartburg to a third straight conference championship.

In the midst of specialization and platooning in football today, Don Lehmann stands out as a two-way performer. In this role, he has missed only three games because of injuries.

The end position is truly a key spot on any gridiron squad. Part of Wartburg's success in the past has been due to the heads-up play on the part of Don Lehmann.

Sowers Selected Month's Athlete

Junior Don Sowers, a lineman on the Wartburg football squad, was elected athlete-of-the-month by the W-club Thursday.

Don has been playing outstanding ball for the Jomen ever since he first donned a Wartburg uniform in the fall of '58.

At his specialty, defense, he has become one of the most feared linebackers in the Iowa Conference. However, due to lack of depth on the Knight eleven this season, he has been playing regularly on offense at the guard slot.

Two Teams Tie In Football Race

After two weeks of intramural football, Waverly and Clinton III are tied for the top spot. Both teams have won three games and lost none.

Waverly picked up two easy victories as it trounced Grossmann III 28-7 and won by forfeit over winless Off-campus. Clinton III toppled Vollmer House by a score of 18-6, to remain abreast of Waverly.

In the other game of the week, Off-campus again did not show. This time Vollmer House got the unearned win.

Tuesday's game between Clinton II and Grossmann I and Basement, and between North Hall and Grossmann III were postponed to a later date.

Next week's big game will be Tuesday between the league leaders, Clinton III and Waverly.

Winona Runners Opponents Today

Wartburg cross-country squad takes on a good Winona State team at the local golf course today.

Winona is fresh from two close losses, one to Iowa State Teachers College and the other to Luther, whom the Knights will face later this year.

Wartburg opened its cross-country season Tuesday here at Waverly and lost to a fine ISTC squad by a 15-49 score (Low score wins).

Wartburg was never in contention, as TC held all of the first six places after the first mile. Gary Jansonius was the first Knight to finish, just nosing out Knudson of TC, who collapsed 25 yards from the finish.

8 Dept. Members At English Meet

Eight members of the English Department are attending the fall meeting of the Iowa Colleges Conference on English Friday and Saturday, Oct. 7-8.

Attending the conference at Iowa State Teachers College are Dr. E. T. Sandberg, Dr. G. J. Neumann, Miss Erna Moehl, Miss Marjorie Sowatsky, Charles Waterman, Richard Davis, Trevor Owen and Mrs. Margaret Garland.

Kenneth L. Knickerbocker, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, University of Tennessee, is the featured speaker at the meeting.

One of the principal subjects under discussion at the conference is "Psychological Approaches to Literature."

KWAR To Start Schedule Oct. 10

KWAR, Wartburg radio station, has announced a tentative schedule effective Monday, Oct. 10.

The station plans to be on the air from 4 p.m. to 12 midnight Monday through Friday. Six and one-half hours of broadcasting each day consist of educational programs from the National Association of Educational Broadcasting.

Campus church services and some of the Knight games may be broadcast.

The studio of the radio station has been expanded to include the old make-up room of the Little Theater.

Honorary Female Ambassadors To Be Chosen

In recent years, Maxine, pet mascot, has been the only female member of North Hall. This year, however, things will be different.

For the next month and a half, the Ambassadors will elect a girl-of-the-week from the junior and senior classes. Each of the six choices will be announced during the dormitory's weekly marches.

Marilyn Rugroden, junior from New Richmond, Minn., was named the first girl-of-the-week Thursday night.

After six girls have been selected, the Ambassadors will name one as the North Hall campus carnival queen candidate. In addition, the girl will receive a North Hall sweatshirt or mug. She will also become an honorary member of the North Hall Ambassadors.

Soph WCB Sec.

Sophomore Barbara Anderson, president of Wartburg Hall, was elected secretary of the Women's Coordinating Board at an organizational meeting last Monday night.

Bohn To Keep Book

S. Elwood Bohn, Mathematics Department, was elected treasurer of the Association of Lutheran College Faculties at its annual meeting in Rock Island, Ill., last weekend.
